"Feeding for Prosperity"

Feed Consumption will depend on the type of animals being fed, the age and the type of management. See guide below for details;

FEEDING GUIDELINE

Animal Species	Amount to feed	Additional information
Chickens, Turkeys, Rabbits and ducks	Ad lib (Free choice basis)	Feed consumption will depend on the environment and feedstuffs the animals are able to access. Ensure rabbits have access to roughage and vegetables to help keep their stomachs healthy.
Cattle, sheep, goat and wildlife	Feed at 1 to 1.5% of body weight	Ensure animals have free access to roughage. Animals will consume more feed when roughage is poor and scarce.

The following factors will affect the free-range feed consumption;

- a. Species of animals
- b. Age
- c. Weight and body condition
- d. Environment (Vegetation, other feed stuffs available)

Performance of free-range animals can be improved through good management and proper feeding. Ensure animals have access to clean water and are vaccinated according to recommendations.
